

USGA/ALLIANCE GRANT PROGRAM

Programs funded since 2010

www.accessgolf.org

Programs Awarded Grants by the USGA/National Alliance for Accessible Golf

The USGA/ National Alliance for Accessible Golf Grants are awarded on a rolling basis throughout the year. Awards are given to programs which are inclusive in nature. This means participants with disabilities in the program doing the same things as participant without disabilities. Not all applications are funded, and rarely are requests funded fully. Awards range from $2,000 to $20,000, but it is important to note that grant awards are based on the budget submitted and there are no limits and no amount too small. Please look at the below documents to learn more about the types of programs that are funded and at what level.

Northeast Accessible Golf Association DBA Golf For All Wellesley Hills, MA
Contact: Frederick J. Corcoran
Phone: 617-600-4673
www.golfforall.org

Through the game of golf, individuals with disabilities become actively engaged in the social fabric of a community and derive health benefits that improve quality of life. A major part of this process is educating the disabled individual of the therapeutic and rehabilitative possibilities of golf, and persuading the able-bodied golfer of the social, recreational and competitive opportunities that such a program engenders. Too many potential golfers are languishing and inactive in the belief that golf is beyond their physical limitations. This program provides access to the game so that all of the above is achieved.

2012 Grants

Edwin Shaw Rehabilitation Institute (Akron General Foundation) Contact: Ron Tristano (330) 784-5400 akrongeneral.org	Many individuals recovering from disabling conditions have achieved solid results through our core program, which uses golf as a rehabilitation and wellness tool. However, we recognize that this is just a first step in helping individuals reclaim their lives. Based on interviews with graduates of our Challenge Golf Program, many golfers recovering from a disabling condition have improved their health and skills to the point where they wish to resume playing on a regulation or public course. However, many fail to do so due to a lack of able-bodied partners who understand the special needs of golfers still recovering from disabilities or fear of playing "too slow" for a traditional course. This new program is a Challenge Golf mentoring league designed to meet the needs stated above.	$3,960

Button Hole dba Button Hole Short Course and Teaching Center Contact: Dan Gaughan 401-421-1664 Ext. 107 buttonhole.org	The pilot program, funded in part through this grant, would follow the Button Hole model. Students participating in Year I of the program (6-10 youth) would be scheduled for six classes, one a week for six weeks, during the summer break. Each class would be 90 minutes in length and would cover the rules, regulations, etiquette and skills related to golf using grant funded adaptive equipment. Students involved in the pilot program would have the opportunity to participate in Button Hole's weekly, non-class events, including tournaments that are scheduled for every Monday and Wednesday in the summer. The competition is divided into flights, by age. This would expand the inclusive portion of our pilot program's students' golf and life experiences. In addition, Button Hole conducts and end of the year competition for all Button Hole Kids, culminating in the awarding of the Button Hole Cup. As with all of our students, students in the pilot program would be included in in and after-school programs conducted in the fall and spring. The course curriculum for the Button Hole program for beginners is attached, along with the test administered to achieve Button Hole Kid status.	$9,500

The Learn to Golf program gives hospital patients with physical disabilities a hands-on introduction to the game of golf. The program provides the tools and instruction needed for patients to participate in and reap the rehabilitative benefits of the game. This is done by offering Y, day learn to Golf Clinics around the state, providing patients who don't have equipment with a starter set of clubs, offering up to $250 in scholarship funds for lessons helping the patient connect with a local golf instructor or community junior golf program for ongoing involvement, and annually providing a one day seminar called Tee Up for Teaching for golf instructors and allied health care professionals so they may learn more about working with golfers who have a disability, need adapted equipment as well as inclusion.

The proposed goal for this grant application is specific to assistance for golf course access, instruction and transportation. By using golf as a means of recreational therapy, golf provides our clients with the opportunity to enhance their overall quality of life. Fore Hope participants learn golf skills that parallel their social, emotional, cognitive and physical needs. Fore Hope's staff of golf professionals, recreation therapist and volunteers have improved the lives of hundreds throughout our twenty-two years of existence. Ultimately, Fore Hope participants are better prepared for community participation after becoming involved in our therapeutic golf program. With a talent for recreational therapy services, and the growing community need for recreation, Fore Hope believes there are many individuals we have yet to serve. Fore Hope continues to strive and reach each individual's own personal needs. Through Fore Hope's therapeutic process, we can help further engage one in his / her community while also enhancing each individual's overall quality of life.

The Adaptive Golf program at Walton Foundation exists to bring persons with physical challenges closer to independence and to a meaningful life with family, friends, and communities. Another main objective is to raise awareness of the benefit of sports and leisure programs for those with acquired disabilities like spinal cord injury, brain injury, stroke impairment, blindness and more. The program consists of Adaptive Golf Clinics, Adaptive Golf Player cards, The Adaptive Golf Demonstration, and the Adaptive Golf Challenge. These programs provide the opportunity for people with disabilities to either get back into the game of golf or to learn golf for the first time. These opportunities increase the quality of life for participants, and allow family members to be directly involved with their loved ones in a recreational setting.

Penn State's Global Accessibility Initiative, the National Alliance for Accessible Golf and the Salute Military Golf Association have partnered to develop and deliver an Accessible Golf certificate program. The purpose of the program is to train golf professionals, and allied health professionals, on how to better include people with disabilities in golf instruction and play. The goal is to enhance opportunities for ALL people to play golf by teaching strategies for creating welcoming and inclusive environments, providing a working understanding of various disabilities as related to golf, introducing available adaptive golf equipment, and adaptive techniques for golf instruction. The core belief is that golf provides a therapeutic medium that improves the physical, cognitive, social and emotional aspects of participating individuals and that, through participation, possible secondary complications related to disability (e.g., social isolation, depression, substance abuse and suicide) can be minimized.
